Rihanna

Rihanna sure knows how to shock her fans. Last week, her explicit video for Bitch Better Have My Money was released – and it's a bloody, violent tale of revenge.

In fact, the dark, Quentin Tarantino-esque footage is more like a short film than a video clip, with Ri-Ri, 27, in the lead villain role. The story? She kidnaps a wealthy blonde woman who, you guessed it, owes her money – and cop enquiries, torture, explosions and a lot of blood follows.

Katie's Hart-less tweet

Her cryptic message sparks the question – is newlywed footballer Joe an ex boyfriend?

Tongues were wagging last week with suggestions that Katie Price had outed footballer Joe Hart as one of her ex lovers.

On the same day that the England international goalkeeper married Kimberly Crew in Florence, Katie posted a cryptic tweet that read, "All Harts go out to the married couple is he going to tell her the truth about us xx."

The mum-of-five later deleted the intriguing tweet, but it no doubt put a dampener on 28-year-old Joe's big day – and left many of Katie's followers wondering why she did it. One wrote, "So Katie Price reckons something happened between her and Joe Hart?" while another labelled her "attention seeking".

This is the second high-profile man 37-year-old Katie has hinted that she's dated. In December 2013 she said about another man, "He's a world-famous professional and it's... oh my God, if people knew! He's British. I'm not saying anything more, but any girl would be jealous as fk."

Katie said she began seeing her secret lover after splitting with Argentinian model Leandro Penna, 29, and before she met her husband Kieran Hayler in October 2013.

The fling lasted around "two or three months" according to Katie, but ended abruptly – and she's kept quiet about his identity ever since. However, she did say that she will dish the dirt in the next instalment of her autobiography.

She revealed, "There's a couple of guys in [the book] who have upset me, so it's about time I revealed the truth about them. They are household names."

Last November, she also took aim at an unnamed TV star during Strictly Come Dancing, accusing him of hassling her for a hook-up before suddenly going cold on her.

She tweeted, "Watching @bbcstrictly funny how he became arrogant v quick & can't say hi yet 2 years ago were

KELLY 'I'VE FINALLY FOUND THE ONE!'

Is the actress ready to swap the UK for a new life in France?

They've been virtually inseparable since they began dating four months ago, and now it seems Kelly Brook is considering a permanent move to the Continent so she can spend more time with her French boyfriend Jeremy Parisi.

Kelly, 35, and the ju-jitsu instructor have been on holiday in Europe for the past three weeks, snapping loved-up selfies as they took in the sights of Italy and Jeremy's native France. And judging by the photos, Kelly is happier and more relaxed than ever.

"Kelly's made no secret of her dream of starting a family and she thinks she may have finally found the right man," a source tells Star. "She's told everyone that she's never felt this way about a man before."

Her newfound happiness comes after a tough few months. After splitting up with David McIntosh, 29, in January, he has constantly sniped at her in the press. Last week, he branded her "nasty" and "power hungry" and claimed he was never "super attracted to her".

Then in May her dreams were shattered when her US sitcom One Big Happy was axed after bad reviews.

Now, after taking time to reflect with 30-year-old Jeremy, Kelly is seriously considering swapping the UK and US for a quieter life in France with her man.

"While she doesn't want to give up her acting career, having a long break with Jeremy has helped Kelly put her life into perspective," says our insider. "It's early days, but she can definitely see a future with Jeremy."

Kelly is clearly loving life in France, even ditching her Atkins diet to indulge in a plate of fresh pasta, writing, "At home in France with the Parisi family. Mamma Mia."

Ooh la la, Kelly, we think French life suits you! ■

However, Katie's latest Twitter stunt must have left her hubby Kieran, 28, reeling. After working hard to get their marriage back on track following his own cheating scandal, he cannot welcome this new speculation about his wife's past lovers – and the backlash she's received from fans over it.

Nicole shows Lewis what he's missing

The singer goes wild on her birthday – drinking, twerking and cosyng up with new man...

Nicole Scherzinger was living it up in Mykonos last week to celebrate her 37th birthday, but despite the smiles, the ousted X Factor judge seemed just a little too desperate to show she was having a good time.

While her ex Lewis Hamilton, 30, was spending time with new love Kendall Jenner – who's 18 years younger than the Pussycat Doll – paparazzi caught Nicole kissing her new toyboy.

She locked lips with Swiss footballer Pajtim Kasami, 23, and the next day things got really wild as she hit the clubs with pals on the eve of her birthday – and ended up twerking and flashing her knickers in the street.

One onlooker noted, "Nicole had all eyes on her."

The group left the club looking worse for wear and the former Fulham midfielder ended up carrying Nicole back to her villa. She later admitted she didn't go to bed that night, posting, "Actually haven't slept. Don't want to miss a second of this day." She didn't elaborate on whether she stayed up alone or not!

Despite their 14-year age gap, Nicole couldn't keep her hands off Pajtim, the first man she's been linked with since splitting from Lewis earlier this year.

However, friends fear that she's not yet over her

NIC GETS A BOOST! The singer seems a little more upfront these days

When new bikini snaps surfaced of Nicole last week, we couldn't help but notice she was looking a little, erm, bustier.

The former Pussycat Doll first sparked rumours of a breast augmentation back in 2013, after an appearance on The X Factor showed her assets looking considerably bigger.

Now speculation is rife that Scherzy has undergone a second boob job, and fans of the singer clearly agree.

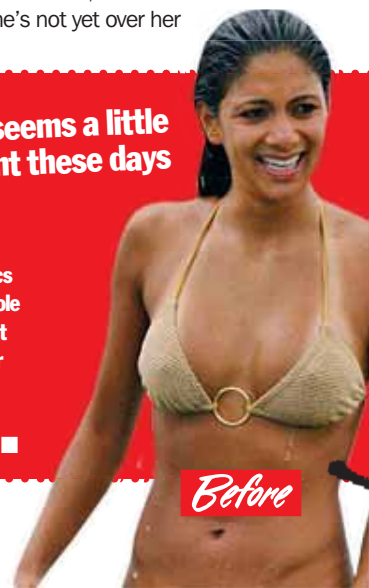

One posted online, "Has she had her boobs re-done? They look like they've been pumped up another notch!"

Another stated simply, "Implant alarm..." while a third questioned,

"She had her puppies done?"

Dr Sach Mohan of Revere Clinics (revereclinics.com) tells Star, "Nicole looks like she's had a second breast augmentation. She has gone larger with a higher profile [lifted], which has enhanced her cleavage."

Nic's rep declined to comment. ■

seven-year relationship with the Formula 1 ace and think her out-of-character antics may be a bid to get his attention, now he's grown so close to Kendall, 19.

"Nicole will always love Lewis," a source tells Star. "Of course it hurts seeing him dating a much younger model. She wants to show him exactly what he's missing."

Lewis sent his ex a gushing birthday message via a post on Instagram – but he pointedly addressed her as "friend", making it very clear that he's moved on in his affections.

Next to a snap of them pictured together in happier times, he wrote, "Dear friend, Through the years we shared a lot, I wouldn't have changed a thing. All the experiences made me the man I'm proud to be right now.

"The memories together will never be taken away no matter how old we get and I'm thankful for the time we had. I'm wishing you the happiest of birthdays, and may God continue to bless you in all that you do."

It seems it's time for Nic to move on... And if this weekend with Pajtim is anything to go by, she's making a great start! ■

JESSIE 'I'm in so much pain'

Loved ones fear for singer as she battles health problems

Fears are growing for Jessie J after the star admitted she's seriously ill and has undergone two major operations.

Despite previously trying to play down her hospital stay, which saw her cancel several shows in Europe, the singer admitted last week that she's struggling. She posted, "How am I... Looks up sighs and has to be honest I am not OK. I am in a lot of pain. But I'm working on it with the doctors. Being human sucks when you are non stop and your body says nope, not right now."

Without naming the problem, the 27-year-old – who suffered heart problems as a child – added, "Just had a second surgery. I'm not any better but every day working towards it. I won't be talking about what's wrong. It's personal. Thank you to those respecting that."

However, she did stress that "my heart and voice are fine".

An insider tells Star, "Jessie is a strong woman, but right now she feels beaten. Her friends and family hate seeing her like this."

Jessie is on several drips

It's no surprise that The Voice Australia coach is nervous of going under the knife. From an early age her heart condition caused seizures that saw her regularly admitted to hospital.

She once explained, "I was a sickly, skinny girl who had a slight green tinge to her skin because of the drugs and who was always in and out of hospital. There would be times I'd be acting normal and then I'd just collapse..."

She had a stroke at 18, which is why she's so health conscious now. "There are still moments when I have to make sure I'm looking after myself and not pushing myself too hard," she admits.

Now friends and family are urging her to take an extended break to recover fully.

"Jessie is such a hard worker, and so focused on giving the best for her fans, that she doesn't even realise she's overdoing it," our source continues. "She needs to take time out and put herself first."

We're wishing you a speedy recovery, Jess. ■

KIM 'I'm still SEXY!'

As her bump starts to show, she's desperate to stay looking hot...

While most pregnant women are happy to settle for baggy clothes and sensible shoes, Kim Kardashian is keen to prove that she's still sexy – even though she's said to be “freaking out” about her pregnancy weight gain already.

Arriving at Glastonbury to see hubby Kanye West perform on the iconic Pyramid stage, the 34-year-old shunned cut-offs and wellies in favour of tottering around in towering heels and a figure-hugging dress – which was so sheer her nipples were on show!

Rapper Kanye, 38, handpicked the outfit, a source tells Star. “To him, Kim looks her best when she's dressed like that,” our insider says. “It's especially important for him when he's at a prestigious event, such as Glastonbury, that his wife looks her best.”

Kim admits that she's already noticed a change in her figure. “I've gained like 15 pounds already! It's in my boobs right now. My boobs are huge!” she said last week. “I have a nutritionist and I'm trying not to eat like the first time.

“I put on a lot of water weight, so I'm trying to prevent that from happening again. At the end of the day, I'm trying to live in the moment and to really enjoy the pregnancy.”

Kim is also keen to do a tasteful naked pregnancy shoot, like sister Kourtney did, but Kanye is apparently having none of it!

“He thinks that kind of shoot is dated and clichéd. He'd prefer her to do something more edgy,” another insider reveals.

Despite her publicly positive attitude, behind the scenes pals say Kim is struggling to deal with the changes in her body.

Our source adds, “After her first pregnancy she had an uphill battle to lose all the weight. Her fear is that if she gains a lot of weight the second time around, she'll never manage to lose it.”

KRIS PLANS A REVENGE WEDDING

The momager wants Corey to propose so she can get back at Caitlyn...

They've only been dating for eight months, but Kris Jenner is desperate to tie the knot with toyboy Corey Gamble – so she can steal the spotlight back from Caitlyn Jenner!

The 59-year-old momager and her music exec boyfriend, 34, put on a loved-up display on a trip to Paris last week, as they walked around the Palace of Versailles, stopping only – in the true tradition of Kris's family – to take selfies.

However, despite their public display of affection, sources close to Kris say she only wants a proposal so she can divert attention back on to herself and away from Caitlyn, 65, who has been getting attention from all angles since her transition.

“She's doing this to spite Caitlyn rather than because of her love for Corey,” a Kardashian family insider claims. “She'll do anything to stay in the limelight.”

Surely love is more important than status, Kris?! ■

Khloé snubs Cheryl!

The reality star ignores her BFF plea

Kim's style was mocked during her first pregnancy that Kim is considering "hip shaving surgery" after the birth of this baby, already revealed as a boy. However, Kim has denied she will go under the knife – and Kanye has forbidden her from any form of liposuction, after the tragic loss of his mother following complications from weight-loss surgery.

He recently confessed that he blames himself for his mother's death, saying, "If I had never moved to LA, she'd be alive."

Take heed, Kim, and love your body just as it is. ■

Kanye was performing at Glastonbury

Last week Cheryl Fernandez-Versini sent a gushing birthday message to "special soul" Khloé Kardashian – but the reality star failed to return the love to Chezza on her special day!

Cheryl took to Instagram on 27 June to wish Khloé, 31, happy birthday with the message, "Sometimes in life you come across people you connect with, that was exactly how I felt when I met Khloé. I felt like I knew her already. She has such a big heart and very special soul."

"I recently realised she is a cancer sign. Same day as my Dad and three days before me. I then understood why I get her on so many levels. Happy Birthday Khloé... You are a special human being and I wish you nothing but love and happiness on your special day. And hope it continues throughout the year. You deserve nothing less."

The pair met through Khloé's big sister Kim and spent time together at Kanye's gigs. But it seems their bond is a little one-sided. Commenting on her post, Cheryl continued to rave about Khloé and her sisters, adding, "I truly love them. When you've experienced a more or less 24/7 bond with people it's a hard relationship to describe. I adore them."

However, although Khloé replied, "I love you baby girl! Thank you for this. You are a rare precious soul!" she completely forgot to return the love on Cheryl's 32nd birthday on 30 June!

But Khloé did find time to post about Kylie's boyfriend Tyga, 25. Sharing a picture of her cuddling the rapper – real name Michael Stevenson – and her 17-year-old sister, she gave their relationship her seal of approval, writing, "A Michael Sandwich." Poor Chez!

However, we're sure Khloé's snub was soon forgotten when hubby Jean Bernard, 33, whisked Cheryl off to Italy for a surprise birthday meal.

Now that really is love, Chezza! ■

Scott was spotted in Monaco with old flame Chloe

She fed him at the table...

The pictures that broke Kourt's heart

Scott leaves his family in LA – to cosy up to his ex in Monaco!

Serial party boy Scott Disick was caught getting awfully close to a supposed ex-flame in Monaco last week – just days after girlfriend Kourtney Kardashian was said to have kicked him out of their LA home.

Fed up with his constant partying, Kourt, 36, apparently ordered Scott to leave and sort himself out. His response? To jet off to the Med to spend time with Chloé Bartoli, an LA stylist he's said to have dated in the past.

Scott, 32, first stopped in St Tropez for a promotional event, before going onto Monaco. While there, he was seen getting too close for comfort with 25-year-old Chloé, rubbing her back and even being fed by her at one stage!

While her other half was living it up with Chloé abroad, Kourt was in LA with their three kids, Mason, five, Penelope, three, and six-month-old Reign.

An insider tells Star, "Kourtney is shocked and humiliated. She was sick of Scott boozing all the time, so she kicked him out in the hope it would bring him to his senses. But instead, he flirts with another woman for the whole world to see."

"Kourtney's upset and angry. It's clear he has no respect for her." While Scott is partying, poor Kourt has been single-handedly looking after their children, while also coping with sickness. She posted a picture of a hot lemon drink and wrote, "I hope this helps. Feel like I'm getting sick... AGAIN!"

But later in the week, anger clearly took over, as she posted a snap of her and sister Khloé, 31, at a gun range with the caption, "Don't mess."

Time and time again, Kourtney has had to put up with Scott's excessive drinking and partying, which has almost pushed her to breaking point several times. Over the years he has also been accused of being unfaithful to Kourt countless times – the most recent cheating allegation being just weeks ago.

Our insider adds, "Kourt can't believe Scott has done this so publicly – she's heartbroken. This really could be the last straw." ■

'Helen needs help'

Big Brother legend Nikki Grahame has some choice words for her nemesis...

Nikki wants to set up a Helen trauma helpline!

When we catch up with Nikki Grahame just after her escape from the Big Brother house, she soon has us in hysterics. And it doesn't take long before talk turns to her enemy Helen Wood, who pushed her pal Brian Belo to leave the house.

We quiz the 33-year-old, who has been living in France for the past year, on why she thinks Helen needs help, what it was like to see her ex Pete Bennett and which other show she'd love to appear on...

Hi Nikki! How has it been since you left the house?

It's been lovely to see my friends. The first person I called was Brian, I was desperate to talk to him. He was messaging my mum while I was in the house. She thanked him for looking after me.

Are you glad to escape Helen?

Yes! After Brian left I felt I was alone in the lion's den! It was scary, but I thought, "I've got to find strength to stand up to her." Aisleyne Horgan-Wallace was my saviour when she came in.

Can Helen ever repair her tarnished image?

Definitely not, the damage is done.

She made a 6ft 4in guy climb a 10ft wall out of the house, and he was a legend to the show. She can never be forgiven.

If anyone else had made those comments they'd have been removed.

Did you consider following Brian over the wall?

I did think about it, but to tell you the truth I couldn't reach it!

She's still close to Brian

She hopes to meet up with Pete

What was it like seeing Pete?

It was perfect, but it was so hard because I couldn't talk to him. All I wanted to do was give him a big hug. There are so many wonderful memories of him from 2006, I can't wait to see him again. I'm heading down to Brighton soon, so I'll hook up with him then.

Any romantic feelings still?

We'll always be good friends. I care about him and we've kept in touch over the years, but that's a flame that can never be rekindled.

You've battled with an eating disorder in the past. How did you find the food situation in the house?

I'm at a good place with my weight now, but Helen said some very cutting things to me. She called me a "skinny ct". Who says that to a recovered anorexic?

What would you do if you saw her on the street?

I'd walk away. She has so many issues and needs help. I just hope she gets well soon.

What are your plans now?

I'm going to set up a Helen Wood helpline! I had a tweet from Phillip Schofield saying I'd be great for I'm A Celebrity... I'd love to do that!

Who do you think is worse – Helen or Katie Hopkins?

Helen compares herself to Katie Hopkins but she's nothing like her. At least Katie has class.

Do you know how to say "Who is she?" in French yet?!

Qui est-elle! ■

Chloe

FUN, FEISTY AND FRANK... THE ESSEX GAL SPILLS ON HER LIFE

Hiya!

I wasn't feeling well last week, but I did manage to do a spot of shopping and have a barbecue at the Bluebird in Chelsea. The rest of the time I've been filming with Danielle Armstrong. She seems happy, but I don't think the break-up with Lockie has hit home yet.

Chloe

Leave GC alone!

Gemma Collins told Star last week that she was worried about eating in public. When she's with me, she'll hide her food under the counter because she's so worried someone will photograph her. It's ridiculous. So what if she's not a size 8? The girl's allowed to eat! People really need to stop worrying about her size. It's nobody else's business.

Here's to the happy couple!

Congratulations to Ricky Rayment and Marnie Simpson on their engagement. It's been a whirlwind, but what's the worst that could happen? When it's right, it's right. We shouldn't waste time – life's too short.

Poor Ferne

I felt sorry for Ferne McCann during her argument with Georgia Kousoulou. I don't know why she didn't stick up for herself more – she normally has strong opinions! She does get herself in these situations, but she's the first person to hold her hands up. Georgia needs to chill out and accept Ferne for who she is, or just not be her friend.

Kezza's haunting horror

Kerry Katona has put her bad luck down to being haunted, but I don't think you can blame that on a ghost! It would make more sense to blame it on your past and issues you've had to deal with. I believe in ghosts, though. I go to see mediums sometimes and you just can't make up the things they say.

Love for Lewis?

Lewis Bloor has been spotted with a new girl called Elle, but I wouldn't hold my breath. He's seen with a different bird every week! If we see him with the same girl for more than three dates, maybe I'll get a chance to meet her, but I wouldn't count on it.

Wedding blues

I saw that Katie Price tweeted about Joe Hart on his wedding day. I've always been a Pricey fan, but she shouldn't do that to someone on their big day. It's evil! If something happened between her and Joe and she felt the need to tell his wife Kimberly, why do it then?

TEARFUL FERNE

'Everyone's turning against me!'

The feisty TOWIE star is branded bitter and weak

Ferne McCann has never been one to hold her tongue, but this time her feisty nature has backfired, after her disagreement with Georgia Kousoulou turned nasty.

After the 24-year-old branded Georgia a "doormat" for standing by boyfriend Tommy Mallet, she was slapped with countless criticisms from her unimpressed co-stars, leaving her feeling insecure and an outcast.

An insider tells Star, "Ferne feels like the heat has moved from Gemma Collins onto her, and now she's being seen as the villain. She feels strongly about speaking her mind sometimes, but feels she can't win."

Lewis Bloor made his feelings about the argument clear when he sarcastically tweeted, "Yeh well done @fernemccann proper nice work there," while Jake Hall praised Georgia for standing up for herself. "Good for you @MissGeorgiakx and well done," he wrote. "You absolutely wiped the floor with her!"

Tommy, 23, commented, "She said she's making women stronger? She's just made my girlfriend cry and abused her behind her back? #WeakWoman."

And 24-year-old Georgia hit back, "Powerful 'feminist' women are supposed to empower each other, not slag them off and try and bring them down...That is all."

Viewers were equally unhappy with Ferne, with one tweeting, "Ferne needs to keep her nose out and mouth shut – she's toxic." Another added, "She's gonna end up one lonely bitter old woman."

Despite appearing confident, Ferne has opened up in the past about her battles with insecurity.

"Because I'm confident, people don't realise I actually suffer with anxiety," she told Star last year. "I had counselling from 12 to 15 and as I've grown up I've learnt how to deal with it. The best thing is to surround yourself with good friends, keep busy and remember to be grateful."

But since the latest cruel comments poured in, Ferne has been left devastated.

"This won't help her paranoia and insecurity, and she worries she's being frozen out by cast members," the source continues.

We hope it all blows over, Ferne! ■

SO JUST WHO IS CHLOE'S MYSTERY MAN?

Chloe Lewis and Jake Hall's relationship hit another bump in the road last week when he accused her of "testing" him by following another man on Twitter.

Jake fumed, "I do think this Twitter thing was another test. I'm getting sick of loads of tests. I feel like I'm at school again."

Although the identity of the man – who followed Chloe first – remains a secret, Jake later let slip that his supposed rival was a fellow reality star.

Ricky's final insult to Jess

His TOWIE ex is fuming over his whirlwind engagement to Marnie...

Ricky and Marnie are getting married!

Reality star Jess Wright has been left reeling after her ex Ricky Rayment popped the question to his Geordie girlfriend Marnie Simpson – just six months into their relationship.

TOWIE's Jess, 29, often complained about Ricky's lack of commitment during the two years they were together, and is insulted that he's moved on so quickly. She's doubly upset as her Marbella fling with footballer Connor Wickham has fizzled out.

A source tells Star, "Jess doesn't want to be with Ricky any more, but his sudden engagement has left her wondering what was so wrong with her that he never wanted to commit."

"Jess would love to settle down and start a family, so to see Ricky on that path when he was the one who wanted to party all the time feels like a slap in the face."

Ricky, 24, proposed to Marnie, 23, in Zante, Greece, where he made a surprise cameo appearance in the new series of Geordie Shore, which is due to start next month. The pair have been inseparable since January, when they hooked up at a National Television Awards after-party.

A source reveals, "Ricky came in for the last episode and that's when he proposed. They're really happy and the ring is incredible!"

The couple were supposed to keep their engagement under wraps so it doesn't spoil the show, but Marnie obviously couldn't hide her excitement.

After arriving back home from the Greek party island, she tweeted, "The week I thought would be my worst ever. Turns out to be pretty special. You never know what to expect in life but I love the surprise."

Ricky gushed about Marnie hours after the news broke, saying on Twitter, "Her smile is so infectious. This girl brightens my day every morning @marniegshore."

And while pals are surprised the pair are moving so fast, they can see Ricky's smitten.

A friend of the couple reveals, "Getting engaged after six months is a serious step, but he believes he's met the girl of his dreams so couldn't see any reason to wait. Jess is a distant memory."

Stay strong, Jess. ■

Taylor Swift hit London for a gig last week – and used it as a chance to have a girls' weekend with all her A-list pals!

Tay-Tay put on a killer show for Barclaycard's British Summer Time festival in Hyde Park, delighting 65,000 fans as she brought her squad – including Cara Delevingne, Gigi Hadid, Karlie Kloss and Kendall Jenner –

And to cement her status as our hero, when two fans missed the BST show because their flights were delayed, Taylor offered to buy them tickets to see her Dublin concerts!

Is Ricky losing his Voice?

After Rita Ora's departure from The Voice, it's looking like Kaiser Chiefs frontman Ricky Wilson may be the next to jump ship.

Auditions for the next series start in October, but Ricky says he isn't confirmed to rejoin the judging panel. "I haven't heard from The Voice, as everyone has been on holiday or at Glastonbury," says Ricky, 37.

Asked whether he'd like to take part, he said, "I don't know if I'd do it again. Maybe." Not exactly enthusiastic, is he?!

Rita rakes it in Silence is golden for Rita Ora... because she makes more money when she's not singing!

Accounts from the 24-year-old's firm Ora Multi Services show she raked in £1.2m profit between March 2013 and March 2014, despite releasing just one single. Endorsement deals with Calvin Klein, DKNY, Adidas Originals and Rimmel probably helped things along. And now with her place on the X Factor panel – and a rumoured £1.5 million paycheck – we won't need a whip-round for her any time soon!

DIETS, DATING AND DRAMA... TALES OF A GEORDIE GIRL!

Hi guys! I'm finally back from filming Geordie Shore in Greece! I had such a good time and I'm the most brown I've ever been. I can't wait for you all to see the show... It's a shocking series! As I'm writing this, I'm on my way to the airport to fly to eastern Europe – I'll fill you in next week!

Charlotte

New baby

I've finally brought my new puppy home! I decided to get a girl in the end and I've named her Baby. She's sooo cute. She lives with me up north, but I'm planning on taking her everywhere. I don't ever want to let go of her – and I don't mind her waking me up during the night 'cos I'm used to only getting five hours sleep in Geordie Shore!

I ♥ Nikki

I haven't been able to watch any Big Brother, but I saw Nikki Grahame was on it. I was gutted to miss her – I would have watched it just for Nikki because I love her. I think she's hilarious!

Go for it, Perrie!

I read that Perrie Edwards wants to have a baby with Zayn Malik by the time she's 24. I don't think that's bad, really. Perrie's experienced the world, she's loaded and is about to get married. I wouldn't like to have a child at this age – I don't want one until I'm about 30 – but she's done everything a young girl could possibly do, so why not?

Me me me!

My new book comes out on 16 July. I'm really excited but also a bit nervous because Holly told me they take some extracts and turn them into big headlines. I was like, "Shit! I'm trying to think what I wrote, now!" Not bad things, but things people might be pissed off about... There's no sob story in it – it's dead light-hearted and really funny.

Loving Caitlyn's new look

I saw pictures of Caitlyn Jenner at New York City Pride last week. She's got better hair than me! I'm so jealous. She looks like she's always been Caitlyn – it seems like this is the face she was always meant to have. She suits her new look more than Bruce! It's just a shame that it took so long for Caitlyn to find herself.

Bonding with Chloe

I found Chloe Etherington really annoying in the last series of Geordie Shore, but we're best friends now! I spent more time with her in Greece than I did with Holly Hagan! Me, Chloe and Marnie Simpson spent a lot of time together. I really look out for her now – all the Chloe and Charlotte drama is done. I love her!

'I've changed my mind about living with Mitch'

Charlotte Crosby reveals why she's not ready to move in with her boyfriend...

When we catch up with our fave Geordie girl Charlotte Crosby fresh from filming in Greece, we can't wait to get all the goss!

The very tanned 25-year-old tells us that she coped well being apart from Mitch Jenkins, why she's in the best place ever with ex Gary Beadle and if loved-up Marnie Simpson behaved herself in the Geordie Shore house...

Hi Charlotte! You hinted this series will be shocking. Tell us more!

It was crazy and dramatic. I can't believe what happened. There were some exits, which were really tough, but I can't say much more.

Were there any fallout?

There were a lot of boy-girl dramas. When someone fights with someone else, it will always end up being the boys against us girls.

Did you keep up your fitness regime while you were away?

Not one single bit! We travelled around a lot – at one point we weren't even on land, so it was hard to do anything but sit! I ate healthily – Greece is full of Greek salads and chicken kebabs – but I went wild for five weeks and was drunk every night.

Are you being good now?

I'm back on it! I've definitely put a couple of pounds on. I don't think it's noticeable, but I can tell. I'm drinking lots of water now because I didn't drink enough out there. I still feel body confident, so I'm not worrying much.

How did you get on with Gaz while you were in Greece?

Really good, I had some of my funniest times with Gary. We did a few things together that were just hilarious. We're in the best place. I've even unblocked him off WhatsApp!

How are things going with his girlfriend, Lillie Lexie Gregg?

The things he said about her were really serious, like ideas of how to propose – he knows how he'd do it! I don't think he's planning on it soon, but one day.

Can you tell us about Marnie and Ricky Rayment's engagement?

You'll have to ask Marnie and Ricky!

Did she miss him in Greece?

She suffered really bad, I've never seen her so down. Some nights she wasn't even drinking. She wasn't herself without him. He came out when we had a break from filming and we had such a good time. Me, Marnie and Ricky all got pissed together.

Do you think they're a good couple?

They're very lucky to have found such a special love. I couldn't wish for her to be with anyone better.

How about you... Was it tough being away from Mitch?

He came out for our break, but we couldn't do much because I was busy. I've only seen him for one night since we got back, and now I won't see him again for two weeks. I'm not used to seeing him much, so it's not that bad.

How are things with you two?

We need to spend some proper time together to be able to say things are amazing, but it's fine.

You don't sound too certain...

Are you still house-hunting?

I'm going to put it on hold – but I haven't told Mitch yet. I'm not sure if I want to move my life down south. I have no one down there, as all my family and friends are up north. He'd never move because he works down south. It's something I really need to think about. ■

'I made so many mistakes in my relationship'

Amid rumours she's split from Josh, Stephanie Pratt talks about learning from the past...

When we last met Stephanie Pratt, she was completely and utterly loved-up with Josh Shepherd. The pair even talked about their hopes of having the first Made In Chelsea wedding, and they were rarely spotted apart.

But after deleting any pictures of him from her Instagram page last week, rumours that Steph, 29, and Josh, 26, have split began to circulate.

Judging by all her selfies with Lucy Watson, 24, who famously fell out with Steph because she didn't like Josh, it seems Steph has swapped romantic meals in for wild nights out with her BFF. Then there was her cryptic tweet to Lucy, saying, "Sorry I was #sleepingwiththeenemy." Hmm...

When we catch up with Steph she won't comment on her relationship status. But Josh seems to be off the scene, as she admits she's spending every day with Lucy at the moment...

Hi Steph! How does it feel to be reunited with Lucy?

I cannot even tell you how nice it is. When we weren't speaking, if I so much as got my food order wrong in a restaurant, I would burst into tears. I missed her so much!

Has the friendship changed?

Not at all. Lucy's like a sister to me – we're exactly how we used to be. We've been having sleepovers, going shopping, going to the movies... We've been spending every single minute together catching up on lost time.

Do you regret falling out?

I'll get emotional and I'll be like, "Thank you so much. If I was in your position, I don't know if I'd have forgiven me so quickly." She's been a really great friend.

She's keeping quiet about Josh

Lucy and Steph are best buddies again

Why did things get so frosty?

It would have been different if I wasn't living with Josh. But as I was, it became so extreme.

Has she met your brother Spencer and his wife Heidi?

No, but I'm planning a trip to Santa Barbara so Lucy can meet them!

Do you get on with Lucy's boyfriend James Dunmore?

I've heard the best things about him, but I haven't spent any time with him because they got together when we weren't speaking. But evidently he's perfect, so I can't wait to get to know him.

Will they last?

Definitely. She's so picky. She won't just date anyone!

Have you had a lot of crazy nights out in LA?

We've all been really hitting the town. Jamie Laing is probably the wildest, but Lucy and I have been hitting it pretty hard as well.

How did you feel when Spencer Matthews admitted he cheated on Lauren Frazer-Hutton?

I was completely surprised and really pissed off. I really thought he'd changed. They've been such a great couple.

Is he capable of changing?

He just messed up. I messed up so many times as a teenager with partying and stuff, but I do believe people are capable of change.

Did she forgive him too easily?

I don't know... Dating is a learning process. I made so many mistakes in my relationship.

Tell us all about your new clothing range...

I saw Jess Wright in a dress I liked and I found out it was from Missy Empire. They invited me to pick out some pieces and ended up asking if I wanted to do a collection. I was like, "Yes please!" ■

'Ghosts are ruining my life!'

Your ex is still scarier

Atomic Kitten star blames spirits for causing her misfortunes...

Kerry Katona has had her fair share of problems over the years, from being declared bankrupt to battling drug addiction. However, Kerry now says her misfortunes weren't her fault – but rather the handiwork of pesky ghosts!

After her husband George Kay was rushed to hospital last week suffering with signs of a stroke, which was later confirmed as the condition Bell's palsy, Kerry, 34, admitted, "I know this sounds crazy, but I'm convinced it was the ghosts that did this."

"The negative energy has been following me all my life. I have a goal and then something bad always happens... drugs, divorce, bankruptcy, my exes' affairs or George's health scare."

As a result of developing Bell's palsy, the former rugby star, 35, is experiencing paralysis in his face, which he too believes is "100 per cent" down to the ghosts!

The pair insist that the spirit contacted them and signalled that it was to blame, and Kerry also claims the ghoul is responsible for the rocky patch they went through before their wedding.

However, the last straw came recently when the mum-of-five says she heard one spectre telling her to "get out of my house!"

So who was she gonna call? Ghostbusters! Well, one at least...

"Kerry's had so many problems in her life, she finally snapped," an insider tells Star. "She hired paranormal expert Russ Hodgson because she doesn't want any more harm to come to her, George or the kids. While they both believe this is all real, friends are concerned by their comments and worry that stress over work and money is getting to them."

Under Russ's instruction, Kerry has started performing a ritual to protect her family, which involves sprinkling holy water and salt as she reads aloud from the Bible.

She'll soon be hosting The X Factor, but at Glastonbury Caroline was more interested in the ex factor! While Kanye West was on stage, the 35-year-old was seen putting on a PDA with Jack, 26, who she split with in December. They were also said to be "all over each other" at a backstage bar later and were seen hanging out the next day. Perhaps all that time on Love Island has got her thinking...

BABY JOY!

Helen Flanagan & Scott Sinclair

She's wanted to be a mum for years, and now Helen finally has the baby she's been longing for – a daughter called Matilda Jessica. The 24-year-old former Corrie favourite gave birth last week at a hospital in Birmingham. The baby, who arrived two weeks late, is the actress's first child with footballer boyfriend Scott, 26. She posted a string of pictures of the tot online, captioning one of her with Matilda, "My everything." Congrats!

Ben Affleck & Jennifer Garner

Goodbye, Bennifer! The day after their tenth wedding anniversary, Ben, 42, and Jen, 43, announced, "After much thought and careful consideration, we have made the difficult decision to divorce." The pair, who fell in love while filming Daredevil in 2003, say they're committed to co-parenting their three young children Violet, Seraphina and Sam, and sources say they will continue to live on their LA property in separate houses. Proving they're on amicable terms, Ben and Jen were thought to be with their kids at their Bahamas home following the split news.

Another A-list love match bites the dust – and it's one of our favourites! Jen, 24, and Chris, 38, who dated for nearly a year, have split for a second time. One insider says their relationship had "run its course", adding, "Jen's been working non-stop and they never saw each other." Another twist in the tale is that J-Law has recently been spending a lot of time with her ex, Nicholas Hoult. Could it be relationship musical chairs in Hollywood?

Myleene Klass
on why being confidence soar...

She's devoted to Ava and Hero

We all remember Myleene Klass's infamous bikini moment. The TV presenter made everyone stop in their tracks when she showed off her flawless figure in that white bikini on I'm A Celeb... in 2006. And she looks as stunning at 37 as she did back then.

After a painful divorce from Graham Quinn, Myleene knows a thing or two about picking up the pieces now she's a single mum to daughters Ava, seven, and four-year-old Hero.

Star quizzes Myleene on juggling work and family, how she stays in shape and why she's more comfortable in a bikini than ever...

Hi Myleene! You look great. How do you get in shape?

I'm not a naturally thin girl but, saying that, I don't sit still for a moment. If I feel like the pounds are creeping on – as they did a few weeks ago when I was filming a new show and matching what all the guys ate – I just calm it back down for a few weeks.

Are you body confident?

I love the body I have now as I know its strength and what it's capable of. I have given birth to two beautiful girls, I'm a single working mum solely raising my girls and I have a mind of my own. That combination has been extremely liberating and I feel

I can walk anywhere and conquer anything. My bikini body is the cherry on the top!

Has your confidence grown as you've got older?

Yes. Although I hadn't had two children and was younger and fitter back then, I didn't have the body confidence. It's crazy.

What was the most important thing to you when designing your swimwear range?

That it looks drop-dead amazing from the second you put it on and that any girl wearing it will be excited to get off the plane and out to the beach – cocktail in hand!

If you could dress any celeb in your designs, who would it be?

I prefer to see "real" women in them. They are who I design for.

How do you think your style has evolved over the years?

I've figured out what colours and shapes aren't my friends!

What are your top beauty tricks?

Less really is more. A bit of bronzer, some mascara and a good brow will get you through the summer.

Do you enjoy retail therapy?

Absolutely. I work hard and I enjoy shopping knowing I've earned it.

As a working mum, how do you keep the balance?

It's a day-to-day situation! ■

PERRIE TELLS ZAYN

'I want kids next!'

The singer is intent on being a young mum

Perrie Edwards has revealed that she wants to start a family with fiancé Zayn Malik sooner rather than later – whether he's ready or not!

The Little Mix singer opened up about when she'd like to have her first baby, saying, "I would say 24 and that's in three years' time for me. My mum was 24, so that's always been my ideal age."

Perrie, who turns 22 this week, also seems to be prioritising her wedding to the former One Direction star, almost two years after they got engaged.

She said, "I literally cannot wait to start planning my wedding."

But while she seems keen to settle into family life, Zayn, 22, appears to be in no hurry. In an interview in late 2013, he made it clear he wasn't ready to have kids any time soon. When asked if he could see himself having children with Perrie in the next few years, he said, "In three years? That's a bit of a short space of time. We have just been together for two years and it's gone really quick for us."

Pals of Perrie also think she's jumping into baby plans too quickly.

A source says, "Having a baby at 24 is quite young and her jet-setting career isn't ideal for raising a baby. She doesn't need to rush into motherhood – she's got plenty of time for that."

Perrie also quashed the persistent rumours that she is to blame for Zayn sensationally quitting 1D back in March.

Insisting it was solely his decision, she said, "I don't think anyone other than Zayn really knows what he was feeling. He made that decision and was 100 per cent on it. Obviously I've been there for him. As long as he's happy, that's all that matters."

"No matter what decision he made, I was always going to support him. If he'd wanted to stay, I would have supported him just the same as I have done since he's left."

'I've got my own LA show'

Amy Willerton dishes on boys, bodies and getting bikini-ready...

Amy Willerton has come a long way from her days as a beauty queen. Now living in LA with her businessman boyfriend Rob Gough, she's preparing to make her debut there with her own reality show.

As we party in Ibiza at Ocean Beach, the 22-year-old tells us how her life has changed dramatically since I'm A Celeb.... We also quiz her about life Stateside and her style tips for summer...

Hi Amy! You're in amazing shape. Spill your body secrets!

While we've been in Ibiza I've been working out as well as partying. I did yoga this morning and then went for a hike – I like to get exercise done in the morning.

You're living in Los Angeles now. How are you finding it?

Obviously it's hard living away from my family, but I've got a great team out there and I'm really busy.

What are you working on there?

I have my own show coming out, which I'm producing with Jack Osbourne. It's about the beauty pageant world – but I'm not doing a Honey Boo Boo! Hopefully it will get aired in the UK as well.

What's Jack like to work with?

He's really great, he's a lovely guy. My dad's a hardcore Ozzy Osbourne fan, so every day he's like, "Were you with Jack again?" It's so funny.

Do you have any other celeb friends over there?

Vince Vaughn often comes and sits on our porch for breakfast. Then I'll see Hulk Hogan in the gym. It's really weird! I'm from a normal working-class background in Bristol, so I've never been around this kind of lifestyle.

How does living in LA compare to the UK?

LA is so positive.

In London everyone thought I was mad because I would talk to people on the Tube. But in LA everyone chats to each other and they're really healthy and happy.

You've moved in with your boyfriend Rob. How are things going between you?

Really well. I met him after moving to LA in April. He's originally from Indiana and is a really nice guy. He shares my passion for life and is really funny. We just joke and laugh together all the time. He is such a genuine, good person.

Is he for keeps?

We'll see... As long as he doesn't muck it up!

Has your style changed since you moved out to LA?

LA fashion is literally yoga pants and a really nice top every day. And now I can dress year-long for summer, which I love.

What are your go-to pieces for summer style?

I'm loving Lipsy's gypsy style. I've been working out in its sports gear too. I've become much more casual with my style since my beauty queen days. ■

'I'm getting Brian back in the gym!'

Vogue Williams tells us why she's reluctant to go back on TV...

After getting on the decks in her bikini, Vogue Williams sits down to share her beach body tips with us.

The 29-year-old Irish model, who will have been married to Brian McFadden, 35, for three years in September, also opens up about fighting and family plans...

Hi Vogue! How do you get ready for summer?

I have the same routine all year. I train five to six times a week. On weekdays, I try to not have carbs after 4pm, but at weekends I go wild and eat what I want, which is usually a Domino's pizza with Brian!

What's your regime?

I do lots of weights because they help you lose inches. I've been the same weight for five years, thanks to that.

Do you and Brian work out together?

He really wants to get back into the gym. He's not great with it, but if I push him he will come with me. I love us working out together.

Would you like to do another TV show with Brian after Seven Days With...?

I don't know if we'd do something like that again.

Everyone said what a lovely couple we were, but we were killing each other by the end!

Have you talked about having children?

I'd love to have children – I'm obsessed with kids – but I'm

Vogue and hubby Brian just crazy with work at the moment. I haven't even seen Brian much this summer! When I have a baby I want to take time off work and focus on the little one.

What styles are you loving right now?

I'm really into big, baggy shirts with a pair of sandals – just something really light that isn't tight.

Which are your favourite pieces from Lipsy?

To be honest, the bikini I've been wearing is a good boob booster – there's quite a bit of padding in there! The kaftans are also good to throw on. You instantly feel more glam, especially if you've just eaten a burger, like I have! ■

The pair tuck into pizza at weekends

'I don't feel sexy!'

I'm A Celeb... star Nadia Forde, 26, talks to us about bodies, beachwear and pursuing her music career...

Hi Nadia! What are your tips for getting in shape?

I'm not a huge fan of the gym so I make a great playlist on my iPod to get me through. I'm weight training more, but I like to keep curvy and feminine too.

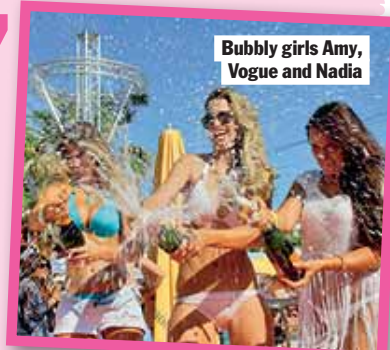

You're always labelled as sexy, thanks to those curves! Does that ever feel weird?

It does, as I dress quite casually.

When I do a sexy photo shoot I actually feel quite awkward. Women are sexiest when they wear jeans and a T-shirt. I think men think the same.

What are you planning to do in the summer?

I'm working on my music – I've been recording a few tracks. I was going to release something and then I took some time off as well. I had two auditions last week as well, but I get the worst stage fright ever.

Bubbly girls Amy, Vogue and Nadia

How would you sum up your summer style?

I love Lipsy's boho chic. Less is more for me. I keep my make-up natural and tie my hair up in a bun at night, so it falls into messy beach waves for the day. ■

“Such a fun dinner in NYC w/this powerful group of trans women. They are all so beautiful.”

And she seems to be taking style tips from her famous daughters, stepping out in the Big Apple in a leopard-print wrap dress, lace number and sequinned miniskirt!

Paris pranked on plane

Don't you just hate it when you think you're flying to the opening of a hotel – but you're actually being used as bait for Egypt's version of Punk'd? Yeah, Paris Hilton does too.

The 34-year-old DJ thought she was on her way to Dubai when the plane started falling – and the cameras for Ramez Wakel el-Gaw secretly filmed her. The show's host then hammed up the situation even more to worry an already screaming Paris, who says her biggest fear is dying in a plane crash.

It later emerged that Paris may have been in on the prank and got big bucks to do it. Who knew she could act?!

'Don't mess with Britney!'

The pop star's loyal fans put rapper Iggy in her place

Britney Spears' loyal fans rushed to her defence last week when rapper Iggy Azalea seemed to blame Brit for their single, Pretty Girls, being a flop in the charts.

When a fan asked why the song wasn't doing well, Iggy responded with a veiled swipe at Brit, hinting that the singer hadn't put the work in to promote it. The rapper, 25, tweeted, "It's difficult to send a song up the charts without additional promo and TV performances."

But Team Britney were quick to defend their idol. One raged on Twitter, "You worked with the queen of pop how dare you shade Britney? #ungateful."

Another said, "Can @IGGYAZALEA stop pretending to be relevant. Pretty Girls is @britneyspears' 9786432th single. Iggy will never get that far."

Another said of the Australian rapper, "Maybe she should blame her lack of talent, American-accent rapping and cringeworthy performances for the record being a flop?" Ouch!

Pop legend Brit, 33, also made a subtle dig at Iggy when she tweeted, "Can't wait to get back to Vegas. So thankful I have shows for the rest of the year to look forward to. #YouWantAPieceOfMe."

Iggy recently had to cancel her tour due to a "creative change of heart".

After the backlash, Iggy denied there is any beef between the pair, tweeting, "No one is throwing 'shade' or 'shots' on either side of the table. The girl is my friend and I support her 100%."

She added that, because she's a "featured" artist on the song, her label wouldn't pay her to promote it because most of the profits were going to Brit's record company.

Iggy was branded "difficult" on set

She insists there's no beef with Brit

But a US source has revealed that Iggy was also "difficult" on set while filming the track's video.

"Pretty Girls was Britney's song and video but Iggy totally took it over. She ordered everyone – including Britney – around as if she was directing the video.

"Everyone got fed up and didn't want to deal with it. Britney, being a veteran artist, was tired of arguing," the insider explained.

Are you getting a bit big for your boots, Iggy? ■

Azealia has had beef with Iggy since 2011, claiming she has no right to be in the hip-hop world. Last year she claimed Iggy didn't deserve her Grammy nomination, prompting Iggy to tweet about Azealia's "piss poor attitude".

'My boys will never go into modelling'

Caprice Bourret reveals why she wants Jax and Jett to get into business instead!

Model and entrepreneur Caprice Bourret's life couldn't be further away from her wild modelling days. When Star catches up with her to chat about her autobiography, My Boys, My Body, My Business, it's clear her main priority are her sons, Jett and Jax, who turn two in August.

We quiz Caprice, 43, on motherhood, keeping romance alive with the boys' dad Ty Comfort, and the real reason she'll never get married...

Caprice and Ty keep the romance alive

Hi Caprice! How does it feel to have an autobiography?

It's a little scary! I've never been this open before. It's my whole story.

Was it emotional to write?

Yes, going back to my childhood and my relationship with my dad, and not having him around... sometimes in life you choose to forget things because it's sad.

How did not having your dad around affect you later in life?

I'm not really interested in marriage, and that comes directly from watching my mum and dad in court battling it out. I thought, "You know what? I'm not going to sign up for this. Not interested!"

How are your boys, Jett and Jax?

They are inseparable. It's funny though, they'll hold hands, yet they'll pull each other's hair and bite each other!

What are their personalities like?

Jax is academic and loves puzzles, like Ty, and Jett is like me, more the entertainer. He loves the camera! The similarities are they're both very lovable, and they love touching and kissing!

What's Ty like with them?

He's the greatest dad on earth. There was a method behind my madness in waiting 39 years. I've found my soulmate.

Do you go on date nights?

Of course! When you have kids, especially when you're running businesses, you're knackered, but you have to make that effort. We go to nice restaurants and we're very tactile. It's cringey!

How have you changed since becoming a mum?

Before, I had the most extravagant lifestyle that you only see on TV. Now, I go to sleep at 9.30pm – maybe 10.30pm if Game Of Thrones is on!

What would you say to other women thinking about having kids later in life?

Start thinking about it a hell of a lot earlier! But find the right person and don't compromise – you don't want a bad boy for the father of your children. I know girls who panicked and compromised, and they ended up single mums with no support. It's hard.

Would you like your boys to be models?

No way – they're going into business! Modelling is tough – it kills your ego if you don't make it. It's less glam than it used to be.

Are you keeping up with your fitness?

I've been doing Barry's Bootcamp. It's so intense – when I did it the first time I almost fainted! ■

'I'll never pose for lads' mags again'

Adele Silva on joining Hollyoaks just two months after giving birth...

New parents Adele and her fiancé Oliver

After years of heartache trying for a baby, Adele Silva's dream finally came true when she gave birth to her daughter Sienna in March. Following three devastating miscarriages in as many years, Adele and her fiancé Oliver Farber thought they may never become parents until their "miracle baby" arrived.

The 34-year-old, who found fame playing Kelly Windsor in Emmerdale, then had another happy surprise when she was offered the role of foster mum Angela Brown on Hollyoaks. Adele says she jumped at the chance – and headed back to work just eight weeks after giving birth!

We catch up with the actress to find out how she's juggling work with being a new mum and why she's in no rush to lose her baby weight...

Hi Adele! How does it feel to be going back to a soap?

Really good! I've watched Hollyoaks since the beginning, so I was really pleased when I was offered the part. Oliver was really encouraging, even though Sienna is small. He's looking after her and working from home while I film. My mum helps out too.

Did you know any of the cast?

I knew Alex Fletcher and Stephanie

Waring, and I used to go to school with Nick Pickard. It was great because it made me less nervous.

So how similar are you to your character, Angela?

It's nice to not be playing a bitch any more! Angela is a foster carer who's desperate to have children, so she offers to adopt her niece Peri's baby. But I'm sure it won't be without any hitches! I can empathise with Angela about trying to get pregnant and can draw on my own experience. I've got the cherry on the top of the cake with Sienna, but I understand how Angela feels.

Did being back on TV put you under pressure to lose your baby weight?

I put on about 2½st, but a lot of the weight was the baby so I lost it pretty quickly. I still have a wobbly tummy, but doesn't every mum?

You used to do lots of lads' mags shoots. Would you ever revisit that?

No. I don't regret them, but I'm 34 now and I've got a child, so I'll leave it to the younger girls.

Have you started planning your wedding yet?

We got engaged in Rome in 2013 and did have wedding plans, but then I got pregnant, which put a spanner in the works! But I'm sure we will in the future. ■

Karen Dunn

How soap is Adele?

Have you ever had a fight?

I've never had an actual fist fight, but I've had lots on screen.

Have you ever had an affair?

Plenty... No, not really! My character in Emmerdale had so many and that's enough for me.

Have you ever thrown a drink in someone's face?

Only when I'm acting. It's great as I get to do all these things that I'd never dream of doing in real life.

Have you ever broken the law?

I'm not going to lie, I got three points for speeding, but that's it!

STAR'S FASHION TEAM GIVES ITS VERDICT ON THIS WEEK'S OUTFITS

LOOK OF THE WEEK

AMBER HEARD

9/10

Amber rocks this stunning Emilio Pucci gown – and we are beyond jealous! The high ruffle neck is a nod to the Victoriana trend we're going to be seeing a lot more of, while the textured up-do with sultry eye make-up finish off the look to perfection.

DEMI LOVATO

4/10

We usually love Demi, but not in this outfit! The jumpsuit is far too garish, the white nails look cheap and what's with the severe, slicked back hair? Sack the stylist, pronto!

ALEXA CHUNG

8/10

This girl can do no wrong – especially when she's in full festival mode. Mixing this gorgeous metallic dress with Hunter wellies keeps the look on the right side of cool.

ROSIE HUNTINGTON-WHITELEY

6/10

The fedora hat, sunnies, tote and white jeans all look very nice, but it's a look we've come to expect from model Rosie. It's time to mix it up a bit, please – we're begging you!

KIMBERLEY WALSH

7/10

Singer Kimberley looks cute in this Oasis tee and Topshop culottes. Yellow can be a hard colour to pull off, but she manages to do it in style. And not a pink hair in sight. Phew!

'I keep an eye on Arg's diet'

Lydia Bright gives us a taste of her strict fitness regime...

EXCLUSIVE!

She recently revealed that James 'Arg' Argent's dramatic 4st weight loss had put the spark back in their relationship. But Lydia Bright, who's also looking fabulously toned, insists their fit physiques are the result of some seriously hard work!

The 24-year-old TOWIE star has just launched her Lydia Rose Bright High Summer fashion collection. Here, she dishes the details on her own crazy exercise schedule, her healthy eating regime and why it's her job to make sure Arg, 27, isn't secretly hiding junk food around the house...

Hi Lydia! You looked amazing in your bikini in Marbs! Had you been on a strict diet?

I was trying to be really healthy and exercise as much as possible because of Marbella, but I've also got a ten-day charity trek to Machu Picchu coming up in September so I'm training hard for that. But we all take it up a notch when it comes to summer, don't we?

So what kind of foods do you enjoy?

I'm eating quite a healthy, balanced diet, trying to stick to white meat. When it comes to carbs, I eat brown bread and brown rice. And plenty of vegetables as well! I stay away from sugars and anything too fatty.

How much exercise do you do each week?

I train around three times a week and do 30-40 minutes of cardio followed by abs and butt work, then toning for another 30 minutes. So about four hours a week in total.

Do you feel body confident?

I do. I felt ready to get in my swimwear this summer!

What's your favourite part of your body?

Lydia and Arg help each other stay trim

My legs. They stay slim and in shape. My least fave is my stomach. If I let things go, it gets all wobbly.

Do you and Arg exercise together?

We work out together a lot. I'll motivate him to eat healthily and he motivates me to get to the gym. I go on food patrol every few nights to make sure he hasn't stashed away any unhealthy treats – and he drags me to the gym in the morning!

Tell us about your new summer clothing range...

It's inspired by catwalk trends but it remains very vintage. It has a real 1950s influence, inspired by my favourite icons of that era. ■

Enjoy the warm weather and get back to nature in beautiful Windermere

Peace and tranquillity are within easy reach

Sail up Windermere to Ambleside

Spoil yourself at the Lakeside

Chances are if you live in a city, by the end of the week and one too many stressful commutes, you'll find yourself craving some fresh air and wide open spaces. An easy train ride from the likes of London and Manchester, you'll find this haven – in the breathtaking Lake District, which boasts some of the country's most stunning scenery. And Windermere, the largest natural lake in England, is one of the most popular places in Cumbria for getting back to nature...

Roam the countryside

England's biggest national park, the Lake District is a truly breathtaking place to explore, with tranquil lakes, soaring mountains like the highest, Scafell Pike, and peaks and valleys that will make you marvel at their beauty. No wonder this beautiful landscape was the inspiration for poets like William Wordsworth at the turn of the 19th century.

There are so many walks of all skill levels that you can do in the Lakes, and you can find a schedule for guided routes at lakedistrict.gov.uk.

If you want to venture out on your own, some of the best walks include the Conistown and Gondola (4.6 miles), the Greendale and Middle Fell (3.5 miles), the Ash Landing and Claife Heights (7.5 miles) and the Seathwaite to Sty Head and Grains Gill (5.5 miles). Find information on these walks and others on nationaltrust.org.uk, where you can also check the grade of each one and download routes.

Brockhole, the Lake District Visitor Centre, offers all kinds of activities to make the most of the surrounds. Hire canoes to explore Windermere, bikes to cycle or go rambling in the countryside. If you're after a family activity, the Treetop Trek (from £18) is a fun, exhilarating challenge! (brockhole.co.uk)

Head into town

The busy little town of Windermere is just over one mile to the lake and is home to the railway and a variety of local shops to meet visitors' needs. Close by, Lakeside, Ambleside, Waterhead and Bowness-On-Windermere are all easy to get to by boat, and each has its own charm.

Take the boat to the quaint Victorian town of Ambleside for an afternoon. Just a short drive away is The Drunken Duck Inn & Restaurant (drunkenduckinn.co.uk), sure to be a highlight of your trip as the food here is really worth writing home about!

Bowness-On-Windermere is another charming little town worth a half-day visit. There are plenty of cosy cafés that serve up tea and warm scones or cakes – Auntie Val's Tea Rooms or The Bluebird Café On The Bay (thebluebirdcafe.co.uk) are just two top picks.

Checking in

Located in a picturesque spot by stunning Lake Windermere, the four-star Lakeside Hotel (lakesidehotel.co.uk) is an idyllic hideaway for those who want to escape from bustling city life. The hotel has an eclectic yet homely feel, with antique furniture, oak and contemporary artwork featured throughout, and the conservatory overlooking the water is the perfect place to unwind with afternoon tea or a glass of wine. Rooms start from £200 per night for two, including breakfast.

Ruskin's Brasserie & Bar serves brasserie favourites in a casual setting, while the Lakeview restaurant – with its fine wines and gourmet food – makes for a special-occasion dinner.

There are also plenty of walks starting from the hotel, but if you're after a little bit of pampering, you'll be able to do this in the hotel's spa. It has a pool looking out onto the lake, jacuzzi, steam room, sauna and relaxation area, and there's also a gym too if you want to work off those cream teas! ■

Your vital guide: what to listen to and watch...

FILM Ted 2 (15)

Stars: Mark Wahlberg, Amanda Seyfried, Seth MacFarlane (voice)

The boozy, drug-addled soft toy with the face of Teddy Ruxpin, the vocab of Gordon Ramsay and the morality of a reality TV star is back and more shocking than ever. Unfortunately, he's a lot less funny.

This sequel is all about the fuzzy fella's quest to have a baby, hoping it will help his relationship with ex-junkie wife Tami-Lynn (Jessica Barth). But that throws up two problems – he hasn't got the, erm, equipment to reproduce and he's not actually recognised as a person in the eyes of the law.

He and newly divorced best buddy John (Wahlberg) hire a lawyer called Sam L Jackson (that joke gets tired after about ten seconds). Played by Seyfried, she sets about getting him legal status so John can be his sperm donor.

The film takes aim at lots of celebrities (Kardashians, look away now) but most gags are either very weak or desperate to be offensive. Many are both. There are laughs, but you could probably count them on one paw.

Verdict: Un-bearable. ★★

ALBUM Fifth Harmony Reflection

Simon Cowell bolted this group together much like he did with fellow X Factor third-placers 1D. He even blessed them with another name that sounds like your form at school – 5H. And now they have their first album. It's not all killer – there is a good deal of filler – but tracks such as BO$$ and Sledgehammer are full of personality. A self-assured mix of honesty and pop culture references runs through each song, lifting even the duds. ★★★

SINGLE

Nick Jonas Chains

The youngest Jo Bro is putting his Disney days well and truly behind him with this moody and dark R&B single about feeling trapped. "Tryin'a break the chains but the chains only break me," he croons impressively. This doesn't have the same catchy appeal as his smasher Jealous, but it's a lot more interesting. Nick is following in the footsteps of Justin Timberlake – another ex Disney boy – and he's catching up fast. ★★★

FILM Love & Mercy (12A)

Stars: John Cusack, Paul Dano

Two actors play legendary Beach Boys member Brian Wilson in this engrossing new biopic. Dano, who bears a startling resemblance to Wilson, takes the golden 1960s while Cusack, who doesn't, takes the rather terrifying 1980s. By then Brian was behaving very erratically and was under the 24-hour control of the thoroughly sinister Dr Eugene Landy (Paul Giamatti).

Into this fraught mix comes Melinda Ledbetter (Elizabeth Banks), a former model and car saleswoman who he meets while buying a Cadillac in his Cusack incarnation. As Dr Landy's treatment for paranoid schizophrenia – a wrong diagnosis in any case – turns increasingly cruel, Melinda becomes the only person who can save Brian's life. Great performances, even better songs. Verdict: A superb tale of a fascinating and tragic career. ★★★★★

WORDS: JAMIE DOWNHAM

SINGLE Little Mix Black Magic

This lead track from the forthcoming Little Mix album couldn't be more 1980s if it came enclosed in a box of actual Black Magic. In fact, it should be illegal for Perrie and co to perform it without a bubble perm, shoulder pads and Phil Collins on drums. This is a joyful, breezy tune with gloriously cheesy lyrics ("Take a sip of my secret potion," goes the chorus), great harmonies and plenty of shouts of "Hey!" Retro brilliance. ★★★★★

'I've had good and hard times'

Dev Patel on the rollercoaster life of an actor and what it's like working with legends...

You might remember Dev Patel as a fresh-faced teenager on cult British TV series Skins in 2007. But the 25-year-old actor has come on in leaps and bounds since then, achieving worldwide success through his lead role in Slumdog Millionaire.

Dev has ditched his hometown of London for the glamour of Hollywood, and is starring alongside acting legends such as Dame Judi Dench in The Second Best Exotic Marigold Hotel.

Here, the actor talks about his hectic life and why LA is the place for him – for now...

Hi Dev! You've come a long way since Skins...

It's gone quick, but there have been dark times and good times. Sometimes you don't work for a while and you're trying to hold out for the right stuff – that's a frustrating place to be, because you want to be paying the rent and to be on a film set.

Do you ever get homesick now you live in the US?

Home is home, and always will be. But LA is where the industry is. Although I live there, it's just a place where I put my stuff. I haven't spent more than three or four months in one place for a long time now.

Does all the travelling ever get too much?

I love being busy. Travel is great and the most reflective time you can have is on a plane.

The Second Best Exotic Marigold Hotel is the sequel to the 2011 film. Was working with the same cast important to you?

Absolutely. It wouldn't have happened if any one of the cast wasn't there. It's mind boggling that everyone was available. We all cleared our schedules and went back to India.

Richard Gere joined the cast this time around...

I watched the film with all my female agents and there was an audible gasp in the audience when Richard arrived! He has that beautiful presence about him.

You have a lot of scenes with Dame Maggie Smith. Were you intimidated by her at first?

Lots of people are afraid of her, but I decided, "What the heck, I'm just going for it." I was like a kid who'd drunk a thousand Red Bulls between takes.

Whenever I was trying to unwind and relax, I'd sit there and scream out, I had so much energy. Poor Maggie was like, "What the hell is this guy doing?"

Did you all spend time together off the set?

Absolutely. Walking through the hotel on a day off, you'd see Judi Dench sunbathing over there, Maggie Smith on the terrace drinking tea, and Bill Nighy in the restaurant!

You certainly show off your moves in the film! Are you a confident dancer?

I hate dancing [laughs]. The two worst things I had to do in this movie was put on that awful big, shiny, turban with a tail, and dance. ■

Dev with Dame Maggie Smith

Back in the Skins days

'I'M SCARED I'LL NEVER GET ANOTHER ROLE!'

Despite a stellar career, Dame Judi Dench, 80, still worries about her next job...

Hi Judi! We love the new film. Did you anticipate there being a sequel to The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel?

We had no expectation of there being a second film. None at all. The first was a one-off and I don't think anyone thought it would be the success that it was.

Are there any roles you've turned down that you wish you'd taken?

I turned down something that went on to be an enormous success. I don't want to say what it was because the person who ended up playing the role was absolutely wonderful and doesn't know that I was offered it in the first place. So you'll never know!

Do you ever worry that the work will dry up?

Yes, but I've always been afraid that the next role isn't going to come.

Trevor Nunn once came to wish me luck on a first night and asked me, "Why are you always in tears on the first night?" And I told him, "Because I think I'm never going to be employed again."

What do you enjoy about getting older? There's nothing good about getting older. Nothing! Being young is better. ■

Casualty

8.55pm, BBC1

Ethan finds himself caught up in a complex murder case this week after he falls under the spell of a woman who's clearly nothing but trouble. The clue is even in the name — she's Bonnie and her boyfriend is Clyde. When they're found inside a tattoo parlour, with Clyde bleeding from a gunshot wound, it looks like a suicide attempt. And he has been inked with 'DNR' and has a note from his lawyer insisting the team don't medically intervene. But when flashbacks remind Ethan that Bonnie has been into the ED as a patient many times before — as the victim of domestic abuse — he starts to realise things may not be as straightforward as they seem. Ethan wants to try to resuscitate Clyde, but that's clearly not what Bonnie has in mind. So she makes out to Hanssen that she and Ethan have a relationship, to get him taken off the case. And then she gets even more devious, spiking his coffee and drugging him unconscious to make sure he's really out of action. Meanwhile, paramedic Iain — convinced the ambulance was deliberately attacked to stop them saving Clyde — starts to investigate. Will Bonnie get away with it? ★★★★★

NEW SERIES

King of the Nerds

7pm, Sky1

Former Blue Peter presenter Konnie Huq hosts this new reality show designed to sort the weak from the geek. Based on the Revenge of the Nerds films, it's already gone down a storm in America and now we get to find out who will be crowned our King (or Queen?) of geeks. Eleven of Britain's sharpest brains from across the nerd spectrum will face challenges to test their intellect, ingenuity, skills and pop-culture prowess in order to win a cash prize and that all-important title – and to prove themselves worthy of sitting atop the 'Throne of Games'. The contestants live together in the land of 'Nerdvana' and first compete as teams, battling against each other in a group challenge known as the 'Nerd War', where the winning team is given immunity from elimination. Two players from the losing team are then selected to face each other in a head-to-head elimination challenge – known as the 'Nerd-Off' – with the loser being sent home. Then, when it gets to the semi-final stage, the teams are disbanded and it's every geek for themselves, as they go all out to win. Think The Apprentice meets The Big Bang Theory. ★★★★★☆

Wimbledon 2015

1.50pm, BBC1

We've no way of knowing who will make it through to the men's singles final today but one thing is guaranteed, it'll be a hell of a match. Last year's champion Novak Djokovic will be hoping to repeat the feat, while Roger Federer is still chasing that record eighth title. And Andy Murray would no doubt fancy a re-run of his 2013 victory. ★★★★★☆

Odyssey

9.15pm, BBC2

Anna Friel stars in this thriller as Sgt Odelle Ballard, a woman who has discovered that a major US company has been funding Islamist terror groups and killing American soldiers. Taken hostage by Ansar Dine, Odelle's colleagues ramp up their efforts to find her, while Harrison learns there is more to Randall's death than meets the eye. ★★★★★☆

T in the Park

From 8pm, BBC Three

There is more than three hours of music tonight thanks to BBC Three's coverage of this year's T in the Park. First off, we'll get to see the highlights of sets by Paloma Faith and James Bay. An hour later, it is the turn of Clean Bandit and Jamie T and finally, at 10pm, we have Noel Gallagher's High Flying Birds and the Prodigy. ★★★★★☆

Rookies

If your idea of training to be in the police force comes from the Police Academy movies, then this new three-part series will definitely be an eye-opener. With rare access to the Lincolnshire Police it follows 24 ordinary men and women who have made the life-changing decision to become police officers. And now is when the hard work really starts as the rookies are dropped on to the front line of law enforcement and have to cope with violence and abuse – and deal with the impact the job has on them and their families. The new recruits range from 27-year-old Jack, who's never moved away from home before, to 45-year-old former driving instructor Julia. Then there is single dad Dan, who has moved his family across the country for the job, and 46-year-old Mark — who becomes one of only six black officers in the 1,100-strong Lincolnshire force. It's down to training manager Phil to make sure the new recruits make it through the tough phase ahead. "I ask them why they are here," he says. "They're going to have dark days, there's going to be stuff that's really traumatic and trying." ★★★★★

We're heading back to Yonderland for series two of the comedy which has both kids and adults in stitches. From those who brought us Horrible Histories, Yonderland is a magical world full of strange folk, weird puppets, evil baddies and Debbie—a mum of two, known as The Chosen One—who has to get back to the real world in time for the school run. ★★★★★

Every terrestrial channel loves an animal-related show as much as pet-loving viewers do. And ITV's new eight-part documentary doesn't fail to deliver. In the second episode, Freddie the West Highland terrier gets a complicated heart bypass and Phanta the goat has a phantom pregnancy. And can a wallaby with a very runny nose be cured? ★★☆☆☆

Holby City

8pm, BBC1

Fletcher has been on a bit of a downward spiral for a while now, getting involved in Clifford's dodgy dealings and taking his eye off the ball when it comes to work. But things take an even worse turn tonight, as Clifford puts his plan in action to rob the pharmaceutical van, with the nurse's help. Fletcher has had second (and third) thoughts and is desperate to pull out of the scheme but he soon finds he's in way too deep and is facing a terrible dilemma. The nurse realises that if he does refuse to go through with the robbery he could be putting his family in danger.

Elsewhere, there could be trouble ahead for lovebirds Jesse and Adele when they disagree over the politics of a case. As a patient asks Jesse for his help with a legal matter, it becomes clear that the newly engaged pair don't exactly see eye-to-eye on some fundamental issues. Meanwhile, Essie is annoyed to realise that she's slipped into the role of PA to a disorganised Sacha and his demanding family. Feeling frustrated that her career is suffering, she knows that she's going to have to talk to him about their relationship. ★★★★★

Ray Donovan / Veep

9pm / 10.10pm, Sky Atlantic

There are two big American series making a comeback tonight. First up, it's mobsters meets movie stars as Ray Donovan returns, complete with some fab new guests. Ray (Liev Schreiber) is the fixer who helps Tinseltown's elite get out of the tricky spots they often find themselves in. And this time he's got himself a new client, who also happens to be the wealthiest man in L.A. Billionaire producer Andrew Finney (Ian McShane) wants Ray to keep his family out of trouble. And it looks like his daughter Paige (Katie Holmes) could cause the Hollywood hardman some headaches. Also returning is award-winning political comedy Veep, which is into its fourth series and this time is directed by The Thick Of It's Chris Addison. The slick show is headed by Seinfeld star Julia Louis-Dreyfus, who plays Vice President turned President Selina Meyer. And tonight it's all change as she and her team find themselves in the top job and the Oval Office. Preparing to make her inaugural speech to the Joint Session, it's not long before the usual catalogue of errors starts and the barely competent Selina has to improvise. ★★★★★

OAP Internet Virgins

8pm, Sky1

For a lot of people – especially those under 30 – the internet is a way of life. Every thought, meal, gym session and shopping trip is broadcast for the entire world to read about. And a planet without Wi-Fi would be a terrifying, unfamiliar and boring place. But for the older generation – and those who haven't yet become silver surfers – the internet is a baffling and unknown quantity. So this fun and feel-good new series wants to help these OAPs become cyber-savvy. Taking a trendy group of young YouTubers and vloggers and teaming them up with mature students, the idea is to get the older folk knowing their ROFLs from their YOLOs and their emojis from their tweets in no time at all. This first episode pairs Essex twins Niki and Sammy with 84-year-old George to teach him the wonders of the world wide web. The twins are full-time vloggers, with eight million viewers, but George is a carer who's lived through the blitz and knows nothing about the internet. Married for 60 years, his wife's illness means he has to step up to do more around the house. And if he can master the basics of using all those online resources, it could transform their lives. ★★★★★

Glee

9pm, Sky1

There are wedding bells this week as the gang get back together to help Brittany and Santana celebrate their big day. While Brittany struggles to contain her nerves, feisty Santana puts her foot down and refuses to let their former cheerleading coach Sue Sylvester attend the nuptials. But never one to be put off, Sue pulls a few tricks to be there. ★★★★★

Big Brother: The Live Final

9pm, Channel 5

It feels like Big Brother has been on every night this year and finally we have reached the finishing line. Hurrah! It's just been a shame that the only way to make this series' bunch of housemates even remotely interesting has been to bring back some famous faces from the past. Anyway, Emma Willis will be revealing the 2015 winner this evening. ★★★★★

Celebrity MasterChef

8.30pm, BBC1

It's the last of the semi-finals and it is now or never for the five remaining celebrity cooks looking to make it through to the final week. Rest assured, Gregg Wallace and John Torode are going to put them through their paces before they get there, starting with a task inspired by love. Each of the contestants has to create one exceptional dish inspired by someone or something they love, to demonstrate that they can put passion into their dishes and show their emotion through their food. After that, it's off to meet legendary pastry chef James 'Jocky' Petrie. He has designed the dishes for an extraordinary Mad Hatters Tea Party, to celebrate the 150th anniversary of Alice in Wonderland, and the celebs will be cooking it. As Jocky spent years working with Heston Blumenthal, you can bet your life that there'll be some mad science in there. Finally, it's back to MasterChef HQ, where the celebs have 75 minutes to create one extraordinary dessert, to keep their place in the competition. For the cook who doesn't quite pull off the perfect pudding, it's the end of the road. But for the other four, it's one step closer to glory. ★★★★★

60 seconds with...

Steve Backshall

The explorer and Strictly star, 42, talks about meeting Sir Tom Jones and being a workaholic...

What's your most treasured possession?

A wooden headhunting mask, which I was given by a tribe on the outskirts of Indonesia. It has pride of place in my house.

What was your Plan B?

I started off as a writer and that's what I thought I would be doing with my life. When this television journey comes to an end, I intend to go back to writing.

When did you last cry?

I get teary all the time! When my girlfriend [Helen Glover] won the European rowing championship and they played the national anthem, I got choked up.

Have you ever been starstruck?

When I met Sir Tom Jones. I wasn't massively starstruck at first, but when he sang the entire room shook... Afterwards I totally understood why women throw their knickers at him!

What's on your bucket list?

I would love to climb another 8,000-metre mountain, to see my girlfriend rowing at the Rio Olympics and to take her on her first ever safari.

Do you have any secret talents?

I'm a black belt in judo.

Where's your favourite place?

The Small Isles on the west coast of Scotland. You can go to a deserted beach and make a driftwood fire and watch minke whales, otters and seals playing all around you.

Do you ever Google yourself?

I haven't for a very long time. The last time I did was because someone had told me that my death had been reported on Wikipedia!

Who's the most famous celebrity in your phone contacts?

Everyone from Strictly.

When were you at your happiest?

This very second. Everything feels brilliant in my work and personal life.

What annoys you?

Technology! If you have a satellite phone on an expedition, it will work for three minutes and not for the next ten. It's worse than no phone at all.

Who's the rudest celeb you've met?

Almost everyone I've met has been interested in what I do and intrigued to find out about my animal encounters. I'm continually amazed by how open and interesting most celebrities are.

Have you ever said, "Do you know who I am?"

I was at a fete and a lady from The Wildlife Trust was there. I'm its president but she had no idea who I was, despite the massive poster behind her! I said, "I'm really sorry but you do know that's me?" She was rather embarrassed.

What's your favourite film?

I feel happy every time I watch Local Hero.

What's your life mantra?

My mum taught me when I was a kid that if a job's worth doing, it's worth doing well. It's made me a bit of a workaholic but it's an important ethic. ■
